Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by Brault et al (US 6,048,604).

Brault et al teach the instant composition comprising glycerolpropoxy triacrylate, surfactant and photoinitiator in example 7 (see table on col. 13 for Ebecryl 1608). Said glycerolpropoxy triacrylate composition is washable since it is not cured and is self-emulsifiable. Applicant's argument regarding a different use and an intended use has no probative value, and the instant recited "comprising" permits the presence any component.

Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.

Claims 1 and 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brault et al (US 6,048,604).

Art Unit: 1714

The instant invention further recites tetrahydrofurfury methacrylate and hydroxyethyl acrylate over Brault et al.

Brault et al teach employing one or more other monofunctional polymerizable precursors such as tetrahydrofurfury methacrylate at col. 5, lines 18-26. Brault et al further teach employing hydroxyalkyl esters of (meth)acrylic acid at col. 5, lines 27-37.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of invention to utilize said tetrahydrofurfury methacrylate or hydroxyethyl acrylate in a radiation curable composition such as example 7 of Brault et al since Brault et al teach such modification and since choosing species from the disclosed species is a prima facie obviousness and since a hydroxyalkyl ester of acrylic acid encompasses a hydroxyethyl acrylate.

Claims 2-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 20 is allowed.
